What Is the Connecticut Paint Stewardship Program?

More than 700 million gallons of architectural paint is sold each year in the U.S., and it is estimated that about 10 percent of that goes unused and is available for recycling.

Until now, unused, leftover (postconsumer) paint has generally been managed through programs operated and paid for by local and state government agencies.

Starting in July 2013, a Connecticut law requires the paint and coatings industry to develop a financially and environmentally sustainable solution to manage postconsumer architectural paint. Under the new program, the paint industry will make paint recycling more convenient by setting up drop-off sites throughout the state where consumers can take their paint. PaintCare will also conduct outreach and education about buying the right amount and using up remaining paint.
