The Commission walked across the bridge at the bypass stream to the farmers stone crossing of the main stream. The large stone that had narrowed the main stream and created the bypass stream was observed. A large area of silt deposit upstream of the stone crossing was also observed. B. Given indicated an area where the bypass stream could be crossed with minor filling with medium sized stone and to where the large stone could be moved to widen the channel for the main stream.

The site inspection ended at 6:10 pm.
